Thanks to you again Cedric,

It will be difficult to forget our last day in South Africa as it gave us the possibility to see the other face of the moon. Particularly give our thanks to our wonderful guide who made it possible for us to walk Soweto's streets as we would have never imagined doing on our own.

It has been wonderful speaking with Patricia and listening to the story of her difficult life. Please give her the photos I have sent you and tell her that we will never forget her hospitality ...it is something we are not used to in our country.

Merging our life with those of Soweto people, even if for a few hours, was the most powerful memory of this marvelous country of strong contradictions.

We wish all the best to everyone we had the opportunity to meet
